

COMS4057A / COMS7060/67/72/73/76A
Introduction to research methods / Research methods and capstone project

Assessment 3 / 2: Research proposal
Marking rubric

Student name/number

Marker name

Please provide a mark according to the rubric below.

	No	Mostly not	Partly	Yes	Yes and of a clearly high standard	Yes and of an excep- tional standard
The abstract briefly presents the area of the proposed project, the research problem or question, methods, and contribution of the project.	0	1	2	3	4	5
The introduction presents the area of the proposed project, the research problem or question, contribution of the project, and an overview of the proposal.	0	2	4	6	8	10
The background and related work are sufficient, relevant, and well understood, and the research problem or question is well motivated in relation to them.	0	4	8	12	16	20
The research problem or question is clear, sufficiently narrow, and solvable or answerable within the constraints of the project.	0	2	4	6	8	10
The aim(s) and objectives are clear and cohere with the research problem or question.	0	2	4	6	8	10

For experimental projects, the methods are clearly stated, well understood, well motivated, and feasible and/or, for theoretical projects, the student understands the topic and proposes clear, independent extensions and/or variations of work in the literature and/or, for philosophical projects, the proposed project is original, its logic is well understood, and one or more possible lines of argument are identified.	0	4	8	12	16	20
The schedule of work is sufficiently detailed and feasible.	0	1	2	3	4	5
The conclusion summarises the proposal and emphasises the contribution of the proposed project.	0	1	2	3	4	5
The language is clear and understandable, and spelling and grammar are correct.	0	1	2	3	4	5
Structure and formatting of the document (including the title page, declaration page, table of contents, section titles, figures, and equations) are of a good quality.	0	1	2	3	4	5
Referencing is accurate, consistent, and in an appropriate style.	0	1	2	3	4	5

Total: /100

The proposal includes an AI declaration, the student has scheduled and had a brief proposal defence meeting with me (if relevant), and I am not suspicious of their proposal being AI-generated in ways that it shouldn't be.	No	Yes
---	----	-----

Additional comments: